A Team of Champions

The Indian team that won the 2007 Cricket World Cup was a well-balanced and experienced side. Tendulkar, the team's captain, was in the form of his life, and he was ably supported by a host of talented players, including Virender Sehwag, Rahul Dravid, Yuvraj Singh, and Mahendra Singh Dhoni.

The team's bowling attack was also formidable, with Zaheer Khan, Ajit Agarkar, and Harbhajan Singh all capable of taking wickets at crucial moments. Anil Kumble, the team's veteran leg-spinner, also played a key role in the team's success.

A Tournament to Remember

The 2007 Cricket World Cup was a tournament of upsets and surprises. The Indian team, which was not considered to be one of the favorites at the start of the tournament, surprised everyone by reaching the final. Along the way, they defeated some of the best teams in the world, including Australia, Pakistan, and England.

The final match of the tournament was a tense and exciting affair. India batted first and scored a challenging total of 257 runs. Australia, in reply, were bowled out for 234 runs, giving India a famous victory.

Tendulkar's Legacy

Sachin Tendulkar's performance in the 2007 Cricket World Cup was one of the greatest individual performances in the history of the tournament. He scored 673 runs in 11 matches, including one century and five half-centuries. He was also named the Player of the Tournament.

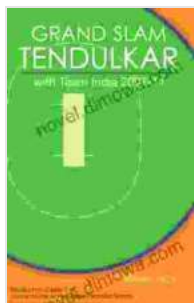

Tendulkar's victory in the 2007 Cricket World Cup was the culmination of a long and illustrious career. He had already established himself as one of the greatest batsmen of all time, and his victory in the World Cup only cemented his legacy.

The Grand Slam

The 2007 Cricket World Cup victory was the crowning achievement of Tendulkar's career. It was the only major trophy that had eluded him, and his victory in the tournament completed the "Grand Slam" of cricket.

The Grand Slam is a term used to describe a player who has won all three major ICC trophies: the Cricket World Cup, the ICC Champions Trophy, and the ICC Test Championship. Tendulkar is the only player to have ever achieved this feat.
