Excerpt

Isabel stepped out of the car and took a deep breath. She was finally here. She had been dreaming of attending Isabel School for years, and now her dream was finally coming true.

She looked around at the sprawling campus. The buildings were beautiful, with ivy-covered walls and tall spires. The grounds were lush and green, with trees and flowers in bloom.

Isabel could not wait to explore her new home. She had heard stories about the hidden passages and secret societies, and she was determined to find them all.

She walked into the main building and found the registration desk. She handed the woman her paperwork and waited for her room assignment.

"Ravenclaw," the woman said. "You're in Ravenclaw house."

Isabel smiled. Ravenclaw was the house of intelligence and creativity. She was sure she would fit right in.

She followed the woman to her room and opened the door. The room was small and cozy, with a bed, a desk, and a wardrobe. Isabel unpacked her things and made the bed.

She looked out the window and saw the other students walking around the campus. They were all wearing different colored robes. Isabel knew that the color of their robes indicated which house they were in.

She saw a group of students wearing blue robes walking toward the library. Isabel decided to follow them.

The library was huge, with floor-to-ceiling bookshelves and a grand staircase. Isabel followed the students to a table in the back of the library.

They were sitting around the table, talking and laughing. Isabel sat down at the table and introduced herself.

"I'm Isabel," she said. "I'm new here."

"Hi, Isabel," the students said. "I'm Kat," said the girl sitting next to her. "This is Ethan," said the boy sitting next to Kat. "And this is Aiden," said the boy sitting next to Ethan.

Isabel smiled. She had a feeling that she was going to make some great friends at Isabel School.

The students spent the rest of the afternoon talking and getting to know each other. Isabel learned that Kat was a clever and resourceful girl who loved to read. Ethan was an athletic and loyal boy who was always up for a challenge. Aiden was a mysterious and enigmatic boy who seemed to know more about the school than anyone else.

Isabel was starting to feel like she belonged at Isabel School. She had made friends, and she was excited to explore the hidden corners of the school and uncover its secrets.
