The Village Idiots Part Plain Sailing is the second book in the hilarious and heartwarming series by award-winning author, Richard Russo. In this installment, the villagers of Longbourn embark on a seafaring adventure, led by their eccentric mayor, Horace Pruitt.

Horace Pruitt is a dreamer. He has always longed to sail the open seas, and when he is elected mayor of Longbourn, he decides to make his dream a reality. He convinces the villagers to build a ship, and together they set off on a journey to find adventure.

But the villagers are not prepared for the challenges that await them on the high seas. They encounter pirates, storms, and other perils. But through it all, they learn the importance of friendship, courage, and never giving up on their dreams.

The Characters

The Village Idiots Part Plain Sailing features a cast of unforgettable characters. Horace Pruitt is the eccentric mayor who leads the villagers on their seafaring adventure. He is a dreamer and a believer, and he never gives up on his dreams, no matter how crazy they may seem.

Other characters include:

- Miss Lavinia Pruitt, Horace's wife, who is a strong and independent woman.
- Reverend Elihu Potter, the village minister, who is a kind and wise man.
- Mr. Ezekiel Peabody, the village schoolmaster, who is a bit of a know-it-all.
- Mrs. Abigail Peabody, Ezekiel's wife, who is a gossip.
- Mr. Nathaniel Pruitt, Horace's brother, who is a farmer.
- Mrs. Sarah Pruitt, Nathaniel's wife, who is a quiet and gentle woman.

The Setting

The Village Idiots Part Plain Sailing is set in the fictional village of Longbourn, which is located on the coast of Maine. The village is a small and close-knit community, and the villagers are proud of their home.

The seafaring adventure takes the villagers to a variety of different locations, including the Caribbean Sea, the Atlantic Ocean, and the Mediterranean Sea. The villagers encounter a variety of different cultures and people, and they learn a lot about themselves and the world around them.

The Themes
